TIPS FOR YOUR GRADUATE SOCIAL MEDIA POST

I'M A GRAD!

Congratulations, all that hard work has paid off, your a graduate and you should pat yourself on the back for all the hard work you have put in. You've had a quick breather and now it's time to focus on your business.

Announcing your graduation through social media can be great for many reasons including, sharing the pride and joy of your hard work, updating your networks and gaining new ones, attracting new business and client opportunities, promote your brand and establish your professional identity, build credibility and set the stage for your career transition.

Here's some tips to help you announce our graduation.

1 - Attention grabbing

Let your followers know this isn't a typical post. Use language such as "I'm excited to announce," "I am thrilled to share," or "Big news" to grab their attention.

Here, we are setting up for the news that will follow.

2 - Details about your qualifications

Share your new title eg, Women's Health Coach, Diploma in Nutrition and Health Coaching.

3. About you

A bit about your history and any previous studies or qualifications. Share who you are and why you are doing what you do, what led you to this new business?
Your why and vision of you and your business.
Let prospective clients get a sense of who you are.

Give a taste of what you will offer in your business.

4. Gratitude

Shout out to colleagues, friends and family that have supported you getting here (make sure you tag them).

Tag an influencer that inspired you (eg, Tag us @wellcollegeglobal and we will share your post through our stories).

5. Hook

Provide a hook to ensure people come back. Ask them to leave a heart or thumbs up if your 'why' resonates with them, or if they want to know more, for example.

Ask them to like and follow and to 'stay tuned' as your next post will give a 'fabulous one off offer' to kick start your business.

6. Image

Without stating the obvious, we have provided you with some templates to "shout out" your new qualification.

We have also popped a Canva link in your email to the Canva templates. No matter if you have a free or professional account, you can modify the template and add your logo or/and an image of yourself.

Make sure you have at least 12+ hashtags.
